Stand for the Right.

Be firm, be bold, be strong, be true;
And dare to stand alone;
Strive for the right, whate'er you do,
Though helpers there are none.

Nay, bend not to the swelling surge
Of public sneer and wrong;
'Twill bear thee on to ruin's verge,
With current wild and strong.

Stand for the right! though falsehood rail,
And proud lips coldly sneer—
A poison'd arrow cannot wound
A conscience pure and clear.

Stand for the right! and with clean hands
Exalt the truth on high;
Thou'lt find warm, sympathizing hearts
Among the passers-by.

Stand for the right! proclaim it loud,
Thou'lt find an answering tone
In honest hearts, and thou'lt no more
Be doomed to stand alone.

Conscientiousness.

The following is a beautiful illustration of conscientiousness, full developed, and of the old adage, "that honesty is the best policy": How simple and beautifully has Abd-el-Kadir of Ghilbin, impressed us with the love of truth in a story of his childhood. After stating the vision which made him entreat of his mother to go to Bagdad, and devote himself to God, he thus proceeds:

I informed her of what I had seen, and she wept, then taking out eighty dinars, she told me I had a brother, half of that was all my inheritance; she made me swear, when she gave it to me, never to tell a lie, and afterward bade me farewell, exclaiming—"Go, my son, I consign thee to God; we shall not meet until the Day of Judgment."

I went on well till I came near Hammandai, when our Kafillah was plundered by sixty horsemen. One fellow asked me what I had got? "Forty dinars," said I, "are sewed under my garments." The fellow laughed, thinking, no doubt, I was joking with him. "What have you got?" said another; I gave him the same answer. When they were dividing the spoil, I was called to an eminence where the chief stood.

"What property have you got, my little fellow?" said he.

"I have told two of your people already," I replied: "I have forty dinars sewed in my garments."

He ordered them to be ripped open, and found my money.

"And how came you?" said he, in surprise, "to declare so openly, what had been so carefully concealed?"

"Because," I replied, "I will not be false to my mother, to whom I have promised I never will tell a lie."

"Child," said the robber, "hast thou such a sense of duty to thy mother at thy years, and am I sensible at my age, of the duty I owe to my God? Give me thy hand, innocent boy," he continued, "that I may swear repentance upon it." He did so. His followers were all alike struck with the scene.

"You have been our leader in guilt," said they to their chief; "be the same in the path of virtue." And they instantly, at his order, made restitution of their spoil, and vowed repentance on his hand.

Look BEFORE YOU LEAP.—For my part, I have always thought that one wife was enough for any one to manage; and I have seen so many poor fellows have the tables turned on 'em in matrimony, and yet lassooed and taunted themselves that I have always been rather skeered to try the yoke myself. Whenever I see a poor fellow going to get spliced, it always puts me in mind of a goney I met at Madame Toussaint's exhibition to London. There was a guillotine there in the room of horrors, and a youngster examined it most attentively; and after walking round and round it, and looking up at the knife and down at the block, what does he do but kneel down and put his head into the hole to try how it fitted, when he caught a glimpse, as he turned round, of the bright edge of the cleaver that was hanging right over him, suspended only by a string, and just ready to do the job for him. Well, he was afraid to move for fear of stripping the string and letting the cutter down by the run. The way he shrieked ain't no matter—it was the naturallest thing in the world, and so was the way he called for help. There was a crowd round him in no time—you never see such a stir as it made, for in a general way, it's a stupid place, that, with people going about as silent as if they were among the dead; but this set everybody to talking at once. They thought it was part of the show, and that he acted his part most beautiful, just as a body really would if he was going to be behended in earnest. So nobody thought of helping him, but let him screech on as if he was paid for it, till at last one of the attendants came runnin' up, secured the knife, got him out, and was beginnin' to pitch into him, when the feller saved them the trouble by fainting. I don't like puttin' my head into dangerous gear like that without a chance of backin' out again, if I don't like the collar, I can tell you.

A SLIGHT MISTAKE.—When Sir Isaac Newton changed his residence, and went to live in Leicester place, his next door neighbor was a widow lady, who was much puzzled by the little she observed of the habits of the philosopher. One of the Fellows of the Royal Society called upon her one day, when, among other domestic news, she mentioned that some one had come to reside in the adjoining house, who, she felt certain, was a poor, mad gentleman, "because," she continued, "he diverts himself in the oddest way imaginable. Every morning when the sun shines so brightly that we are obliged to draw the window-blinds, he takes his seat before a tub of soap-suds, and occupies himself for hours blowing soap-bubbles through a common clay pipe, which he intently watches floating about until they burst. He is, doubtless now at his favorite amusement, for it is a fine day; do come and look at him." The gentleman smiled, and they went up stairs, when, after looking through the staircase window in to the adjoining court-yard, he turned and said, "My dear madam, the person whom you suppose to be a poor lunatic, is no other than the great Sir Isaac Newton, studying the refraction of light upon thin plates, a phenomenon which is beautifully exhibited upon the surface of a common soap-bubble."

THAT BIG BABY AT SAULT STE. MARIE.—The correspondent of the Detroit Daily Tribune, writing from Sault Ste. Marie, says:

I have seen in some of the Detroit papers account of the large baby at the Sault, and to-day I had the curiosity to go and measure it with a tape, the measure being taken without its clothes, as follows:—Around the shoulders, 32 inches; around the waist, 26½ inches; around the calf of the leg, 17 inches; around the arm, above the elbow, 10½ inches; around the arm, below the elbow, 9½ inches; around the ankle, 9 inches. It is a female child, six months old, and weighs seventy pounds; is perfectly healthy; has never been sick, seldom cries, and has six toes on each foot. Its growth is so rapid, that its mother has to alter, or make new clothes once in ten days. It is certainly worth going some distance to see.

Friday Morning, Sept. 14, 1860.

Church and State.

Some short time ago we received an intimation that a movement was on the tapis to induct the clergymen of the Church of England into the office of spiritual and temporal guides to the Indians. Whilst waiting for a development of the scheme, we find the first public notice of putting it in operation appeared in the last number of the Gazette. It states:

"The Rev. Mr. Garrett has assumed the care of the Indian school on the Reservation across the bridge. The Rev. gentleman has been appointed by the Bishop as missionary to the Indians, and sanctioned by the Governor to carry out all measures for the improvement, social and spiritual, of the aboriginal races in the colony."

Taking it for granted that this is a semi-official intimation of the design of the Government, we cannot but ask whence does His Excellency derive his authority to sanction any such proceeding? It cannot be in Bulwer Lytton's dispatches; for he distinctly denies the existence of an established church in the colonies. The voluntary principle—and the voluntary principle only—is all that is authorized by the Colonial Office or the Colony. But the appointment has been "sanctioned by the Governor." Are we to understand that the sanction of the Governor is a mere parade of words to add importance to the mission? Are we to believe that it is not Governor Douglas who has "sanctioned" the Rev. Mr. Garrett's appointment; but that Mr. James Douglas, in his private capacity as a member of the Church of England, has consented that Mr. Garrett shall be an Indian missionary, and that his consent has been magnified into sanction for ulterior purposes? If such were the real state of the question, there would be no more ground for alarm than if we were to consent. We believe, however, there is a deep design to give undue preponderance to the ministers of the Church of England; and that the exact in question may be urged in proof.

An Earl of Peterborough once said, in an eloquent speech in the House of Lords, that he would accept a parliamentary King; but he was opposed to a parliamentary God and a parliamentary religion. We also are willing to accept parliamentary appointments; but we are distinctly opposed to the appointment of a gubernatorial God and a gubernatorial religion for the Indians. Were we not to deny the right as well as oppose the Governor's sanction of the appointment of Mr. Garrett "to carry out all measures for the improvement, social and spiritual, of the aboriginal races in the colony," we know not how soon we would have in the Rev. Dr. Hills, Bishop of Columbia, a Church of England Pope. We have almost a Pope now. Does not the extract say that the Bishop appointed and the Governor sanctioned? Here is the spiritual first; the temporal last.

If the government intends to aid the Indians, let the aid be given without holding a blanket in one hand and the "thirty-nine articles" in the other. Let religion work its way among the Indians on the voluntary principle, as it does among us. Do whatever is possible to elevate their temporal condition. But never allow a Governor nor any one else in authority to dictate Protestantism, Catholicism, or any religious belief to the Indians. Let missionary enterprises have the sanction of the church; not the state. Let them depend for support on the charities of the benevolent and the free gifts of the Indians; and for success on the zeal, example, and labor of the propagandists. We certainly are not disposed to cut off the connection between the church of England and the colony as represented by the white inhabitants to renew it among the Indians?

Frontier Duties:

There are persons both here and in the sister colony who are advocates of extreme measures to stop the Dales and Seattle traders from carrying merchandize across the frontier into Rock Creek and Similkameen. They allege that under the tariff of British Columbia there is only one port of entry, and that is New Westminster. Therefore no merchandize can be legally conveyed into the country across the frontier—and whatever is so introduced should be declared contraband. The law may be as stated; yet the practice has been different. We find that the Hudson Bay ships have cleared here for the Northwest coast and Fort Simpson with goods. Whether duties have or have not been paid we cannot say; but presume they were—notwithstanding we have not seen any notice made by the New Westminster Customs to the effect that they have been paid.

So far, then, as entering here is concerned, it may suit us very well, and the residents of Fort Simpson, to have the duties paid here; but it cannot meet the views of those who wish to make New Westminster the only port of entry. It has all along been the practice to drive merchandize and cattle across the frontier. In fact it is difficult to see how stock could be introduced cheaply into the upper country, except by that route. Here, then, are two instances of goods entering British Columbia without being first entered at New Westminster. Every one has heretofore agreed to it; but since the Rock Creek mines have been discovered, a different opinion begins to prevail. New Westminster is advocated as the only channel through which merchandize should penetrate the country.

Now, we are not disposed to find fault with the introduction of goods into the country across the frontier, or by visiting the northwest coast, provided the duties are paid into the British Columbia treasury. Because, if merchandize could not cross the frontier, there would be a very large contraband trade. Large stocks would be stored and herded near the line; and run into the country at convenient opportunities. If it was decided to stop the contraband trade, it would require a large staff of revenue officers to watch the frontier, and even they would be unable to suppress it. Merchandise would enter the country; and as for cattle, it would be suicidal to order them to enter at New Westminster. It is apparent, therefore, that there is nothing at all to be gained by trying thus to stop the Dales trade. But a very large sum would be spent in salaries were it attempted without any corresponding advantage to the country at large. We cannot, therefore, but conclude that the wisest policy is to extend the tariff to the frontier; collect the duties there; and instead of merely watching contrabandists, let the official staff aid in the encouragement of a legitimate trade that can only be suppressed by creating a cheaper channel through our own territory to the Rock Creek mines.

CONSECRATION OF ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

The opening services for the consecration of St. John's Church took place yesterday morning. The edifice, which is the finest north of San Francisco, was comfortably filled, and the services were very impressive and interesting in their character. The opening sermon was preached by Bishop Hills, and was listened to with rapt attention by the large audience. Rev. Mr. Sheepshanks, of New Westminster, B.C.; Rev. Mr. Cridge, and Rev. Mr. Dundas, were among the officiating clergymen. The Bishop, in his sermon, alluded to the advantages to be derived by the establishment of church societies on a permanent basis in our midst; spoke of the expense attending the same, and the good accomplished by the dissemination of the Word of God. After the services, a collection for the relief of the church (which is in debt), was taken up. A large choir was in attendance, and, with the aid of the fine church-organ, added to the impressiveness of the services.

A MISTAKE.—We were yesterday laboring under mistake when we stated that but $20,000 came down by the steamer California and Wilson G. Hunt on Wednesday. The amount, we have since satisfied ourselves, was at least $40,000. It is extremely difficult to state correctly the amount of dust brought down at this season of the year, as the greater portion comes by private hands, and miners are generally loathe, on entering a strange place, to furnish correct information. We spent some time yesterday, however, in gathering particulars, and believe the figures given above are correct.

CONTRACT AWARDED.—Mr. J. C. Colquhoun, long a resident of this city, has been awarded the government contract for the construction of a wagon road from Fort Pemberton to Anderson Lake (a distance of 24 miles), on the Lillooet route. Mr. C. is a practical engineer and surveyor, and has been a large government contractor in Scotland, from which country he brings the highest testimonials of capability and worth.

A PILE.—Two Swedes, brothers, brought down on Wednesday the snug little sum of $12,000, the result of a year and a half's work in the British Columbia mines. The dust was assayed by Marchand & Co., yesterday. It was quicksilvered, and nearly filled two large tin cans, each about the size of a miner's prospecting pan.

POLICE COURT.—Yesterday morning there were two cases before the Police Judge. One was an unfortunate miner who had been imbibing very freely, and had gone to sleep on the sidewalk of Yates street. He was ordered to pay five shillings for his lodgings, or philosophize for six hours within a brick cell. The other was a Queen Charlotte Island Indian, who had been attending the Indian school, and anxious, no doubt, to increase his fund of information, and lay in his fuel for the winter at the same time, shouldered a plank belonging to the building and marched off with his prize to his residence. He was overhauled, however, and will be brought up for punishment to-day.

NAVAL CONTRACTS.—We learn that only the contracts for provisions and bread have been given out, but that the naval contract for beef will not be renewed till the arrival of Admiral Maitland.

NO QUORUM.—There was no quorum yesterday at the House of Assembly, consequently no meeting took place. The incorporation bill will be taken up to-day, at 3 P.M.

CARD.

In consequence of the magistrate of this town (J. Boles Gaggin, Esq.) having, for a special sitting of the Supreme Court of British Columbia, (held in Douglas, on the 1st inst., 1st August,) summoned two men to sit upon the jury of that Court with white when only persons of competent white persons (residents of Douglas) could be found; And further that the magistrate, being remonstrated with before the sitting of the said Court, did persist in having Negroes to sit upon the jury,

We, the undersigned inhabitants of Douglas, according to the resolutions passed at our public meeting, do hereby declare our intention not to sit upon any jury with Negroes hereafter, when white men can be found; and we make no claim to cast any insult or slur upon any person or persons whatever; but we do consider that the magistrate of this town not properly considered the feelings of the jurors of Douglas, and therefore do hereby protest against his conduct in this matter, and publicly declare that we will rather submit to fine and imprisonment in future than sit upon juries with Negroes, in any place where sufficient competent white men can be found. Additional Mining News.

We had the pleasure of a call yesterday from two miners from Quesnelle River and the Cariboo country, who have kindly furnished us with some items of news which may prove interesting.

Our informants left Keethley's Creek on the 13th of August, and have traveled slowly all the way down, with four others. The party had some $8000 in their possession, and arrived here on the Wilson G. Hunt, on Wednesday.

They represent the mines as the richest and most extensive yet struck in the country, and predict a large immigration in the Spring to that region. In fact, none who came down on the same boat with our informants but intend returning to Quesnelle.

Several passengers by the steamer Caldonia are on their way home—two to England, one to New York, and one to Russia, having made their piles.

We were shown some of the dust from Cariboo. It is very coarse—pieces weighing from twenty-five cents to five dollars. In color it is a very dark yellow, and is much heavier than any we have heretofore seen from British Columbia. Some of the larger nuggets have small pieces of quartz attached to them, and bear the appearance of having been broken off from a ledge.

On Harvey's Creek, the miners are doing remarkably well, and the statements in Mr. Batterton's letter (published on Tuesday) are fully confirmed. One man, named Kennedy, on this creek, has been prospecting in the hills, and struck a rich prospect of coarse gold one hundred feet above the river, on a ledge. One piece he washed out weighed five dollars. Haseltine & Co.'s claim is thought to be the best ever struck in British Columbia. The pay-dirt is ten feet high, and is at the base of a hill. As far as worked it has paid 37½ cents to the bucket. Part of the company are working rockers, while the others are preparing sluices. It is the intention of the company to run a tunnel into the hill, California fashion. Rose's Gulch is also very rich, and all the men working there have made a great deal of money.

Beavers are very plenty in the vicinity of the diggings, and their meat is eaten by the miners. The cariboo, or reindeer, abound, and also black bear, and the Brigade trail is fairly alive with grouse. In fact, the whole country is full of game.

The country is a rolling one—low hills and extensive valleys and lakes. The lakes and creeks are full of trout and white fish; and one of our informants says that if it were not for the rain and the mosquitoes, it would be one of the finest countries to live in he ever saw. The rains are heavy and frequent, and the water-courses and dry creeks would, after an hour's rain, run full of water and be apt to damage such of the flumes or sluices as were not prepared for the flood.

On Keethley's and Harvey's creeks, the size of claims adopted by the common consent of the miners are: 100 feet up and down the creek, and 75 feet back from the centre of the creek into the bank. The arrangement has given great satisfaction.

The party met Mr. Nind the new Commissioner, in company with two others, about four days travel from the Forks of Quesnelle. Mr. N. and his party were well, and were highly pleased with their journey. The want of a Commissioner to establish mining laws has been severely felt along the Quesnelle during the summer. A small party of men would strike a good prospect on a large flat or bar, and stake it all off for themselves, allowing no outsider to come on it. This course injured the country very much, and prevented some from doing well, who were willing and anxious to work.

Vegetables are very plenty in the mines. The farmers—one at William's Lake, and the other at Beaver Lake—have been very successful in growing garden vegetables, and some wheat sowed in one of the fields is represented to us as being as fine in appearance as any ever seen.

News has been received from Patterson & Co., who left for Salmon River, about 90 miles above Fort Alexander, in April last. They say they have done well, but give no particulars. There were reports current at Quesnelle, however, of rich diggings in the vicinity of Fort George.

Fort Alexander is now a one-horse town. A town has been started at the Forks of Quesnelle, and called the Forks City. It is the distributing point for that region of country, and is filled with miners and others every Sunday buying provisions.

Every necessary article is very cheap in the mines, and has been since the early Spring.

Our informants believe that there was at least $40,000 brought down by the steamers on Wednesday.

Mr. J. C. Colquhoun has resigned his position as superintendent of the Victoria chain-gang.

Latest from Japan and China--Arrival of the Brig Orbit.

The brig Orbit, Sherman, arrived yesterday morning, in 32 days from Hakadodi, Japan. She brings a small Japanese cargo for Portland, and two passengers: Messrs. Detendrey and Isaeson.

Mr. Leonard, the owner of the Orbit, informs us that at the last dates at Hakadodi from Hongkong, the allied fleet were at the mouth of the Peiho. They were about disembarking their forces to proceed to Pekin. The Chinese had mustered about 400,000 men, to stop their advance. Fighting was expected.

Trade at Shanghai and at all the ports in North China, was exceedingly dull, in consequence of the unsettled state of affairs. The clipper ship Oracle had put into Hakadodi from Hongkong with 300 Chinese, short of water. She was bound for San Francisco, and would sail the day after the Orbit.

Since the above was written, Captain Sherman has kindly handed us a file of Hongkong papers to July 6th. The Press of July 3d, says:

We suppose ere this the forts on the Peiho will have been leveled with the mud which formed the grave pit of so many of our troops a year ago—and we further suppose that as soon as this is effected, and the insult which our flag sustained upon the occasion referred to has been wiped out, that negotiations will at once be commenced.

The same paper, of July 6th, says:

It was rumored at Shanghai, when the steamer Pekin left, that the allies would attack the Taku forts on the 2nd and 3d inst. Ta-lien-when Bay is said to be deserted. The villagers have retired inland, taking with them their stock and movables, and naught but dogs are seen. Some British troops have been landed at the bay, and have been fired at several times from ambush.

About eighty vessels were lying in the bay, with about twenty larg' junks, which the British authorities had seized upon and were using as store vessels.

A wealthy Chinese merchant has lately married a European lady at Singapore.

The next arrival from Hongkong will, no doubt, bring us some exciting news. If the allies attacked the forts on the 2d or 3d of July, it is high time we had the particulars, and the next steamer from San Francisco may be expected with the intelligence.

The Americans and the Prince.

All the differences which have happened since 1783 will be condoned; the meeting of Wallace and Bruce was as nothing compared with that shake of the hands between Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, and James Buchanan. The White House will be the great mansion of peace; Royalty and Republicanism will lie down together in that first beginning of the millennium. Hearts Royal and hearts Republican will discover that there is in truth little difference between them. Englishmen are the same all the world over, under whatever institutions they may recently have lived. They are still distinguished by identically the same qualities and aspirations, and notably by these—the faithful love of law, the energetic impulse to make opportunity profitable, and the ceaseless desire to do as much good as possible. Terminate the differences that have ever separated England and America, and enable them to understand each other up to the very top of society, and how much may they not hereafter do by their united force, under those three sacred impulses?

Ever since the close of the last century, the Americans have been in the habit of confounding the action and motives of the English Crown with repudiation of law, forcible encroachments, antagonisms, and jealousy, political and commercial.

During the reign of Queen Victoria, every one of these trans-Atlantic prejudices has been softened to such an extent that each one is now ready for removal, and we see the whole Republic eagerly preparing a welcome for Queen Victoria's successor. On the other hand, English society—which means persons of great wealth and influence living in the upper regions of the West-End, remote from the vulgar commonwealth—have supposed that the American Republicans are rough, unlettered, eager to show their independence by repelling all gracious influences, and anxious to retaliate any of the affronts which royalty may have put upon them. Nor are these insults entirely ancient; even British colonies unsevered, have had within very few years to complain that they suffered from neglect and dispraise. If a leading colonist visited England his local honors were unrecognized; the statesmanship which ruled in the Downing-street of Australia, or the West Indies, found itself simply in lodgings in the political suburbs of the imperial metropolis; and many who came full of loyal fervor returned soured by official coldness and repulsion. Nothing has contributed more to remove that untoward feeling than the genial graciousness with which Queen Victoria has received representatives of British colonies unsevered, aye, or severed. And now the first gentleman in England is about to learn by personal experience the vigorous cordiality, and the tasteful courtesy, with which the Republic of America can welcome the renewed alliance. Nor is it simply a matter of state ceremony; by this visit an influence will be created, at the very centre of the United Kingdom, most favorable to every good work for which the Americans can ask our co-operation; and while recognizing the most absolute equality in the great Anglo-Saxon State on the other side, we may say an influence will be left, in the very centre of the Republic, most favorable to all that we Englishmen can wish. The joint action of these influences cannot but have a most powerful effect in enlarging the opportunities of both countries, in adding to their wealth, in increasing their united pursuit of knowledge, in widening and elevating every form of social happiness.—London Spectator.

And other similar maladies, yield at once to the beneficial influence of this excellent Medicine. Try them. Test them on your Constitution, and go on your way rejoicing.

CAUTION.

Owing to the unexplained demand for these Bitters, some unprincipled parties have endeavored to counterfeit them. The genuine ROSENBAUM have the name of N. B. JACOBS & CO. and brand on each cork, and their signature on each label. Beware also of a worthless article, called Rose-souffre's Bitters, put up in this city. Its external appearance is very much like the true Rosenbaum, but it is useless as a remedial agent, and has only been got up to prey on the reputation attained by Rosenbaum's Bitters. For sale everywhere.
